

School of Nursing Positions (2)

Long hot summers, mild sunny winters, award winning restaurants and vineyards, combined with stunning landscapes and a vibrant arts community make Hawke's Bay a great place to live.

The School of Nursing at EIT in Napier provides a range of health related programmes including the Master of Nursing, Postgraduate Certificate / Diploma in Health Science, Bachelor of Nursing, Certificate in Contemporary NZ Nursing Practice and Certificate in Health Science.

Assistant Head of School, Nursing

The role will encompass responsibility for:

- Strategic and academic leadership for the School, in association with the Head of School
- Oversight of the Bachelor of Nursing and Certificate in Health Science as negotiated with the Head of School
- Efficient, professional day-to-day management of staff teaching primarily in the BN and others as may be negotiated with the Head of School
- Team leadership to ensure we meet commitments to our students and stakeholders
- Programme staffing and operating budgets and other targets as negotiated annually

The ideal candidate will have experience in undergraduate nursing education and successful management experience.

Senior Lecturer, Nursing

Join the School of Nursing and contribute to programme/course development, coordination and teaching within the Bachelor of Nursing, and postgraduate programmes. This fulltime permanent position includes assessment and mentoring of students in a range of clinical practice environments.

For both positions you will require an appropriate Masters degree qualification and be a registered nurse with a current NCNZ annual practicing certificate.
